

Outwrite

Write with impact.

Est. 2020 | San Francisco | Writing | www.outwrite.com

BEST FOR

- + Freelance writers and bloggers who want style and readability feedback beyond basic grammar checking. Outwrite's strength is sentence-level clarity improvements.
- + Non-native English, French, or Spanish speakers writing professional emails and documents. The contextual thesaurus and rewriting tool help with word choice.
- + Small marketing teams needing a shared writing assistant with consolidated billing. The Teams plan offers Pro features at a lower per-seat cost.
- + Students writing essays and research papers. The plagiarism checker (50/month) and grade-level scoring help verify originality and target appropriate complexity.

NOT IDEAL FOR

- ! Enterprise teams requiring SSO, SAML, SOC 2 compliance, or admin dashboards. Outwrite has no single sign-on, no compliance certifications, and limited team admin controls.
- ! Writers working in languages beyond English, French, and Spanish. Outwrite supports only 3 languages compared to 30+ offered by competitors like LanguageTool.
- ! Long-form authors or novelists needing manuscript-level analysis. Outwrite works sentence-by-sentence and offers no chapter-level reports, pacing analysis, or Scrivener integration.
- ! Users who need a mobile app. Outwrite has no iOS or Android app. It works only through browser extensions, office add-ins, and the web app.

Key Features

AI Grammar and Spelling Checker

Detects spelling, grammar, and punctuation errors in real time across Chrome, Edge, Microsoft Word, and Google Docs. The free Essential plan covers basic corrections. Pro unlocks style, structural, and passive voice suggestions powered by Outwrite's own NLP models.

Sentence Rewriting and Paraphrasing

Pro users can rewrite individual sentences with multiple fluency and diction options. The tool offers shorter, longer, or alternate phrasing for each sentence. Unlimited rewrites are included in Pro and Teams plans.

Style and Structural Suggestions

Pro-tier AI analyzes sentence structure and recommends word order changes, passive-to-active voice conversions, and conciseness improvements. Suggestions appear as color-coded highlights grouped by type: grammar (red), style (blue), and structure (green).

Plagiarism Checker (50 Checks/Month)

Compares documents against publicly available web text to flag potential originality issues. Available on Pro and Teams plans with a cap of 50 checks per month. Results highlight matched passages with source URLs.

Readability and Grade Level Scoring

Displays real-time readability metrics including Flesch-Kincaid grade level, word count, sentence length, and vocabulary complexity. Scores update as you edit, letting writers target a specific audience reading level.

Multilingual Support (3 Languages)

Checks writing in English, French, and Spanish. The grammar engine adapts rules per language. French and Spanish support covers spelling and grammar but not all style and structural suggestions available in English.

PLAN GUIDANCE

The free Essential plan is enough if you only need basic spelling and grammar correction. It covers the same platforms as paid plans and has no word limit. If you write client-facing content or professional emails, Pro at €8.95/month adds style and structural suggestions that catch issues the free plan misses, like passive voice and verbose phrasing. The 50 monthly plagiarism checks are useful for content teams but may not be enough for educators reviewing student work at scale. Teams pricing at €7.95/user/month is cheaper per seat than Pro and makes sense for groups of 3 or more who need consolidated billing and admin controls. Yearly billing is available at a discount. For comparison, Grammarly Premium costs roughly $12/month billed annually, and LanguageTool Premium runs about €4.90/month annually. Outwrite sits between the two on price but is closer to LanguageTool in feature depth.

HOW IT WORKS

You start by installing Outwrite's browser extension for Chrome or Edge, or the add-in for Microsoft Word or Google Docs. Creating a free account takes about 30 seconds with an email address or Google sign-in. Once installed, Outwrite runs in the background and underlines errors as you type in any text field across the web, including Gmail, LinkedIn, WordPress, and Outlook. Clicking an underlined word or phrase opens a suggestion popup. Grammar fixes appear in red, style suggestions in blue, and structural changes in green. You accept or dismiss each suggestion with one click, and the editor jumps to the next issue. The web app at app.outwrite.com offers a standalone editor where you can paste text for a full analysis, including readability scores and plagiarism checks. For teams, an admin invites members via email. All users share a consolidated billing account and get Pro-level features. There is no shared style guide or brand voice feature. Outwrite currently supports English, French, and Spanish across all platforms.

ALTERNATIVE CONSIDERATIONS

- 01 Grammarly: Covers the enterprise compliance and admin gap. Grammarly Business offers SSO/SAML, SOC 2 Type 2 certification, and team analytics dashboards from $15/user/month billed annually. Tradeoff: significantly more expensive than Outwrite, and Grammarly's style suggestions focus more on tone detection than sentence-level rewriting.
- 02 LanguageTool: Covers the multilingual gap. Supports 30+ languages with grammar, style, and punctuation checking. Premium costs €4.90/month billed annually, making it cheaper than Outwrite Pro. Tradeoff: no plagiarism checker, no sentence rewriting tool, and fewer style suggestions in non-English languages.

- 03 ProWritingAid: Covers the long-form writing and manuscript analysis gap. Offers 20+ writing reports (readability, pacing, sentence variation, echoes), Scrivener integration, and a one-time lifetime license at $399. Premium starts at $10/month. Tradeoff: English only, no browser-based real-time checking in the free tier, and a steep learning curve due to the volume of reports.
